Peace Corps Uproar in Nigeria

Teacher Statement
Touches Off
Student Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Peace Corps officials today investigated a 23-year-old American teacher's remarks about "primitive living conditions" in Nigeria that touched off student protests.

The Peace Corps said that pending the inquiry into the statements by Margery Michelmore of Foxboro, Mass., no action would be taken on her offer to resign from the corps.

One Peace Corps spokesman suggested the incident might have been exploited by "Communist agitation." But Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver said this would be a "premature judgment."

Apologizes For Remarks

Shriver said the U.S. ambassador and Peace Corps representatives in Nigeria had "full authority" for taking any action that seems warranted. He said such incidents "should not interrupt the mission or obscure the purpose of the Peace Corps."

Miss Michelmore, who is in training at the University College of Ibadan in Nigeria, apologized to the university's president-general for her remarks and said she was submitting her resignation.

The Peace Corps denied she had been asked to leave Nigeria. Reports from Ibadan said university students, angered by her remarks, had demanded deportation of U.S. Peace Corps members in Nigeria.

Miss Michelmore complained about the "squalor and absolutely primitive living conditions" in Nigeria in a postcard to a friend in the United States.

Postcard Intercepted

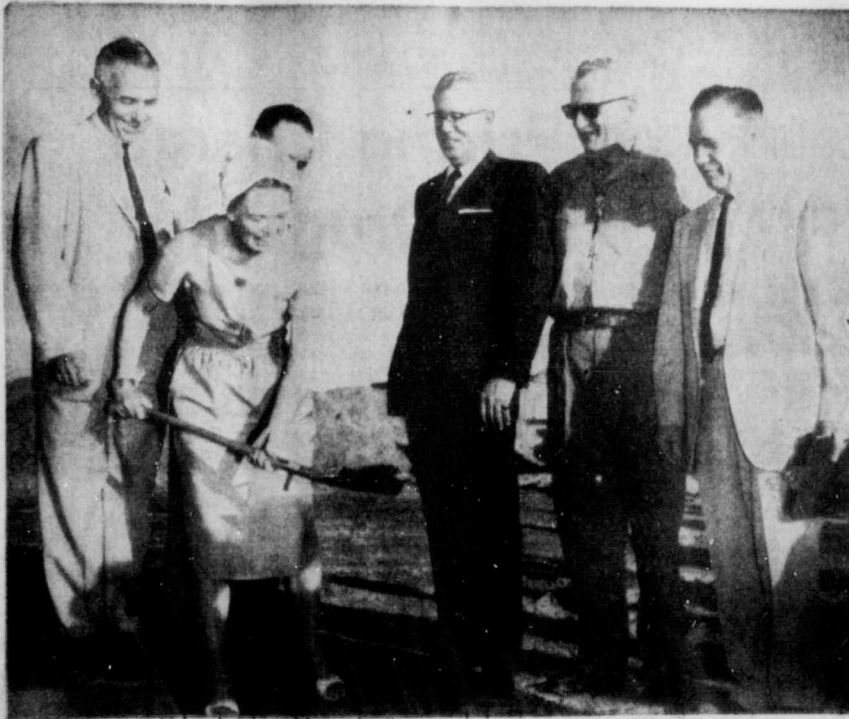

She wrote that Peace Corps members initially were shocked to find that the Nigerian lives in the streets, cooks in the streets and "even goes to the bathroom in the streets." After her first shock, she said, she found her assignment "a very rewarding experience."

The postcard was intercepted in the mail by unidentified persons, reproduced and copies distributed among the students at the university.

A Peace Corps spokesman said the reproduction might have been promoted by "outright Communist agitation." He conceded that Miss Michelmore's statements "could offend the pride" of Nigerians.

Ghana Romance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Peace Corps announced today that Lucille Carmichael, a 24-year-old blonde from Grosse Pointe, Mich., has married Tom Miller, an instructor she met while training for the Peace Corps. Both are stationed in Ghana.

FIRST SYMBOLIC shovel of ground for the first-phase $4 million construction of the College of the Desert was turned at the Palm Desert site at 4 p. m. Sunday by Mrs. P. A. With Mrs. Staley were, from left, board president Don Mitchell, Indio; board members Ray Rummonds, Coachella; William Cook, Palm Desert; and David McGahey, Palm Springs, plus college president Dr. Roy McCall, right. Diplomats May Continue Parley In Washington

LONDON (UPI) — Plans for a high-level meeting of Western diplomats in London this week to discuss the Berlin crisis have been abandoned because of French opposition, diplomatic sources said today.

Some of the diplomats who would have taken part may go to Washington to join the talks the State Department already is conducting with the British, French and West German ambassadors.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White confirmed that "discussions will continue here (in Washington) at the ambassadorial level."

Sources close to the Washington negotiations said "the French continue to feel that the time is not ripe."

A statement to that effect—said to have been dictated by President Charles de Gaulle — was "leaked" from the French Foreign Office Saturday.

The "leaked" statement was an unofficial reaction to a British forecast that a meeting of experts representing the Western Big Four would meet in London Wednesday.

French officials said privately Britain should not have issued such a statement without consulting France.

Most 'Unusual' Weather Gives No Relief Sign

It is most "unusual."

And, according to the weatherman, more of the same is due today. Although it will be just slightly cooler in the coastal area, no real relief from the unprecedented heat wave is in sight until at least Wednesday, he said.

While the west was sweltering in a re-run of record summer heat, the New England coast had a preview of winter with snow flurries and Indian Summer prevailed between the two extremes on east and west coasts.

High Pressure Area

The hot weather which broke records of more than a half century, is caused by a high pressure area over the west which still shows little signs of diminishing.

For the third straight day, the beach area was hotter than the desert. Downtown Los Angeles and the desert registered approximately the same maximums but at International Airport in Los Angeles, the high topped that of the desert. In many spots it was the hottest Oct. 15 in more than half a century.

Hotter in L.A.

It was 103 here Sunday, 102 in downtown Los Angeles, 104 at the airport, 111 at Long Beach airport, and even San Diego reported the mercury flirting with the 100-degree mark.

Three-digit maximums prevailed over most of the southland over the weekend. Beaches were jammed with most of the people sitting just at the edge of the water. The sand was too hot for comfort.

Hundreds Affected

Almost 300 persons were given treatment for heat-caused collapses in Los Angeles where 120 degrees was registered on the floor of the Coliseum during a football game.

The weekend here after a crowded Saturday, was on the quiet side Sunday as it was just too hot in the coastal plain for people to take to the highways.

Varmint Poison Kills Marine

TWENTYNINE PALMS — L.Cpl. Jackie L. Hughes, 22, a Marine stationed at the Marine Base here, was found in convulsions at the corner of Joshua and Adobe Streets at 4:20 p.m. Sunday.

He was admitted to the station hospital at the base, where he was pronounced dead.

According to Capt. David Graen, investigating officer, cause of death was apparently self-inflicted, commercial varmint poison.

It was reported that Hughes recently took leave and left his wife, Patricia Ann, in McCallister, Okla., then returned to Twentynine Palms alone.

An autopsy is scheduled for this afternoon by the San Bernardino County pathologist at Wiefels and Son Mortuary here.

The matter is still under investigation by Marine Corps authorities.

Another Crash For Goldberg

George Goldberg, president of Songold, Inc., Midwest Hotel Co., owners of the Chancellor Hotel in Los Angeles, and the Flamingo Capri in Las Vegas, plus many other properties, is in a hospital in Phoenix after he crashed his plane in Las Vegas a few days ago.

Goldberg suffered head and rib injuries plus a crushed vertebra. His condition is believed more serious than originally reported.

The hotel magnate, who has a home in Palm Springs at 1062 Buena Vista, was taking off from Las Vegas Airport when he found that the door of his Cessna was open. Air pressure both inside and outside the plane will not allow the door to open or close while the plane is in flight.

To add to the confusion, Goldberg had reportedly lowered his flaps, and the plane slowed down its airspeed and the horn alarm began sounding. Reportedly in confusion of the many "incidents" Goldberg attempted to return to the airport, and the plane went into a stall and crashed some 200 feet to the ground.

Goldberg was taken to the hospital in Las Vegas, and only this weekend was transferred to Phoenix.

About ten months ago Goldberg made a belly landing at Palm Springs airport when his landing gear failed to work, but he walked away from the crash uninjured.

RUSSIA AND U.S. AGREED ON DAG SUCCESSOR--ADLAI

By BRUCE W. MUNN
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Adlai Stevenson said Sunday the United States and Russia agree that Burmese Ambassador U Thant should become acting U.N. secretary general in place of the late Dag Hammarskjöld.

America's chief U.N. delegate added, however, that the two nations are still at odds over the number of undersecretaries there should be in Thant's "cabinet," and what parts of the world they should represent.

Drops "Troika" Demand
On his bi-weekly TV program,

Stevenson said Russia has dropped its demand for a "troika" — three undersecretaries, each with the veto power.

On another TV program (Youth Wants to Know), however, Red Bulgaria's Ambassador Peter G. Voutov praised the "troika" plan, saying he does not believe it would hamstring the United Nations.

Voutov also said there is no Iron Curtain and that Bulgaria is politically free.

Isolate South Africa
Nigerian Foreign Minister Jaja Wachuku appeared on Stevenson's program to discuss last week's censure of South Africa, which had commented on the backwardness of black African nations in U.N. debate.

Wachuku indicated the Afro-Asian bloc in the United Nations will try to isolate South Africa from U.N. affairs rather than move to expel the country from the organization.

Stevenson said that although the United States disagrees with South Africa's racial segregation policies, it feels that country has a right to voice its opinions in the United Nations.

World Parley of Communists Set

MOSCOW (UPI) — The top leaders of the Communist world — with the apparent exception of those from Albania — gathered here today for the ceremonial opening Tuesday of the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress.

Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, Hungary's Janos Kadar and East Germany's Walter Ulbricht were among the list of foreign Red officials who will gather in the brand new Kremlin theater to hear Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's report on Soviet and world affairs.

Khrushchev went personally to Vnukovo Airport to greet Chou Sunday, giving the appearance that the much-publicized rift between Peiping and Moscow is closing.

But as of today there had been no sign that Albanian party chief Enver Hoxha or anyone else from

Schools Will Sell 'Surplus'

The Palm Springs Unified School District board has authorized administrative disposition of 16 loads of surplus material "no longer of value to the school district."

The material, steer manure, has accumulated over the past two years, district business manager Jack Miles said. The city outlawed use of organic fertilizer materials last year, and the board had halted its use two years ago, Miles said.

Most of the fertilizing material was donated, he said. Miles added that two groups have made overtures to buy the fertilizer. The high school agricultural plot had previously used the now surplus material for test growing plots, Miles explained.

Final Arguments On Election Set

Final date for closing of arguments for and against redistricting of Palm Springs seven councilmanic districts is 12 noon, Oct. 30, city clerk Shirley Henry said today.

Arguments, which must contain no more than 300 words, will be selected as "provided by law," Mrs. Henry said.

the tiny Adriatic state would attend the congress.

Relations between Russia and Albania have been near the freezing point since Hoxha, an unreconstructed Stalinist, was said to have left the meeting of 81 Communist parties in Moscow last November after an argument with Khrushchev.

Khrushchev is expected to take six to eight hours giving his opening address.

On the basis of past performance, he will outline Soviet policy on such subjects as Berlin, Laos, disarmament, the United Nations and East-West relations.

He is expected to proclaim again that Communist might is growing and eventually will triumph throughout the world.

Indian Avenue Striping Set For Council

A discussion of Indian Avenue striping scheduled for today's 7:30 p.m. city council meeting is primarily for public information, Palm Springs City Manager Dan Wagner announced.

Wagner, who reported that there is some public confusion with the striping, indicated the council wanted to explain the striping program to local citizens. Acting Public Works Director Harold Stone told the council in the last Monday meeting that the city engineers are conducting studies of the striping results. The system may be modified if changes are indicated for traffic control, Stone said.

Security Traders Association to Start Big Convention Here Today

With more than 600 delegates in attendance, the 28th annual convention of the National Security Traders Association will swing into action at 6:30 p.m. today with a reception for Joseph E. Smith, president, who will be the principal speaker at the inaugural banquet.

Representatives of 31 affiliated regional associations and delegates from 62 cities across the nation began arriving in Palm Springs over the weekend for the sessions.

DELMAR CANADY

Manager of Airport Here

Delmar Canady, 39-year-old new manager of the Palm Springs Airport under the city Airport Commission, arrived on the job today to begin preparations for the city's Jan. 1 takeover of operations.

The airport is managed through December by Aero Palm Springs firm, under contract with the city.

Canady, a Navy reserve commander, came here from Detroit where he had been city airport manager for approximately 18 months. Prior to taking the Detroit city post, Canady was on active duty with the Navy from 1949 to Feb. 1958. During World War II, he served with a carrier unit in the southwest Pacific. He was first separated from active duty in late 1945, after three and a half years service.

A native of San Bernardino, Canady attended San Bernardino Valley College, and attended Detroit College of Law approximately three years.

Reds Bar Work Trip to East

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist police today barred six West Berlin construction workers from States enclave of Steinstuecken to build a new road there.

The workers were refused passage through one mile of East German territory separating the village of 155 persons from the American sector of Berlin, West Berlin police reported.

The Communist action raised the possibility that the U.S. Army might fly the workers to Steinstuecken by helicopter. This method already has been used to get East German refugees out of the village and into West Berlin proper. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's representative here, also has flown into Steinstuecken by helicopter.

Barring of the workmen came as West Berlin police also disclosed that the East German Communists have booby-trapped their barbed wire border with blank ammunition to help catch fleeing refugees.

American sector authorities tried to send the workers to Steinstuecken to build a road replacing one barricaded by the Communists with barbed wire. The barricaded road was one of the ways used by residents of the 26-acre hamlet, although it was East German territory.

Barring of the West Berlin construction workers represented a new Communist harassment of Steinstuecken.

Golf tournaments for men and women are slated Wednesday plus a tennis tournament.

President Smith will be honored at Thursday's breakfast session and Motley will address the group at the luncheon meeting that day.

Switch Seen in Registrations

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Voting officials in five of the state's 13 most heavily populated counties say there has been a small but noticeable increase in voter switches from Democratic to Republican, possibly because of a plea by former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

A United Press International poll of voting officials in the 13 counties revealed this today.

Knight, an announced candidate for the GOP nomination for governor against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, made this appeal in a statewide television appearance last Sept. 27.

"To Democrats, I say this...if you want to vote against Nixon, register just for a day as a Republican and vote for me in the Primary next June."

Nixon supporters discounted the significance of the registration switches. They pointed out a recent public opinion poll (the Field Polls) showed Nixon with 77 per cent of the GOP voters and Knight with 12 per cent.

Young Speed Merchant Hits Police

A Palm Springs youth, traveling at speeds reported at 75 miles per hour or better, was stopped by a sheriff's deputy Saturday, but only after he ran into and damaged the police unit.

Gary Hecht, 18, of 494 N. Calle Encelia, was cited for driving a pickup truck east on Ramon Road at 75 miles per hour and failing to yield right-of-way to an emergency vehicle.

Deputy Sheriff John Stonewall Jackson Ritz, 35, started in pursuit of the youth as he sped east on Ramon Road. When the driver of the speeding car failed to yield to the red light and siren, Ritz pulled ahead of the speeding driver and cut in front of him in order to bring him to a stop.

Hecht hit the right front of the sheriff's unit, causing minor damage to both cars. No one was injured.

Seniors Okayed For Americans Abroad Group

The New York headquarters of the American Field Service, has announced that senior class students are now eligible to join the Americans Abroad group, according to William Bruckner.

Bruckner, who heads that committee with the Palm Springs Chapter of American Field Service, said today that in the past, only members of the junior class were allowed to participate in the exchange student program.

Steve Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Culver Nichols, was Palm Springs' first member of Americans Abroad last year, when he studied and lived with a family in Finland. At a special assembly on Monday, Steve told the Palm Springs High School Student Body about the program hoping to interest other students in this worthwhile project.

It is the purpose of the American Field Service Americans Abroad to increase understanding and friendship among the peoples of the world, by giving American teenagers the opportunity to live with families in a foreign land. This purpose is carried out through the two programs which make up the AFS Americans Abroad, the Summer Program and the School Program.

Pricing Charge On Drugs Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen today challenged a statement by the chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee that "prices and profits in the ethical drug industry are excessive and unreasonable."

The Illinois Republican offered the challenge as the subcommittee chairman, Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., opened another round of hearings into pricing and licensing practices in the drug industry.

Dirksen's complaint came even before the first witness, patent officer David L. Ladd, began testifying.

Dirksen said he did not agree with the conclusion of Kefauver's statement and that he was "distressed" it gave the "unfortunate impression" of being a subcommittee finding.

Kefauver bowed to the criticism and amended his statement by indicating it was only his opinion that ethical drug prices were unreasonable.

Ladd, when he reached the witness stand, questioned several key features of the drug antitrust bill introduced by Kefauver.

The legislation is designed to limit exclusive patents on drugs and, according to Kefauver, will lower prescription drug prices.

Industry spokesmen have denied Kefauver's charges. They contend that tightening of the drug patent laws would kill incentive in a highly competitive field and dry up costly privately financed research into new uses for drugs.

Under present law, patents run 17 years.

Kefauver's bill would permit drug patents for the exclusive use of one firm for only three years. It would compel the patent holder to turn over the product to any other qualified drug-maker under a licensing arrangement for the next 14 years.

In return, the original patent holder would receive royalties up to 8 per cent on gross sales during the 14 years any other firm is licensed to make the product.

Groundbreaking This Afternoon

Groundbreaking ceremonies marking the start of work on $1,000,000 worth of new facilities for the Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association were scheduled this afternoon on the building site at Ramon Road and South Palm Canyon Drive in Palm Springs.

City officials and civic leaders were to join with W. H. Smith, president, and the savings firm's board of directors in the ceremony.

Smith said the building, which is to include a unique two-level parking facility, is expected to be one of the most outstanding structures in the city. The offices also will be on two floors.

The ground floor will consist of the savings department and executive offices while the second floor will house the escrow and loan processing departments.

All of the services now supplied by the Association will be enlarged in the new facility, including the loan and escrow departments, collections department, executive department, safe deposit box vaults, money orders and travelers checks. A large employees' lounge and a Community Room will be included, Smith said.

This will be the fourth location to be established by the CVSLA since its organization in 1949 at which time they were the pioneer Savings and Loan Association in the Coachella Valley.

The first office was located at 232 North Palm Canyon Drive in a small office consisting of 800 sq. ft. of space; the second office was on Indian Avenue at the foot of the Plaza where the facility provided 2,000 sq. ft. of space; and the third office is the present location of the association at 383

South Palm Canyon Drive where, six years ago, they erected their own building consisting of 8,200 sq. ft. of space.

The corner lot, on which the building will be erected, fronts on two main thoroughfares entering Palm Springs, together with a frontage on Belardo which, according to the City Planning Department, will be made a through north and south street.

This corner location is destined to be a financial center inasmuch as there are now two banks on corners located adjacent to the property. Due to the nature of Highway 111, visitors coming from the south will have an unobstructed view of this beautiful new building.

As in the present location, Smith said, there will be elevator service to the three floors, as well as stairways.

Hungry Cubans Exchange Fire With Gunboat

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI)—Forty-five hungry Cuban refugees reported they exchanged gunfire with a Cuban government gunboat disguised as a fishing vessel during their escape from Castro's Cuba.

The Cubans, more than a fourth of them children under 12, landed at the Coast Guard dock in Key West Sunday afternoon after being marooned since Saturday without food and water on a tiny island between Cuba and Florida.

The Navy quickly treated them to box lunch and hot coffee.

Many of the exiles were barefooted and had makeshift clothing.

The refugees said they reached Cay Sal, a tiny British island 35 miles north of Cuba in three boats Saturday. The island is one of the most southerly of the Bahamas and has long served as a rendezvous point for gun-runners.

Clarence L. Moody, head of the M. and M. Dredging Co. which has a lease on the island, was the first to report the shooting incident after receiving word from his radio operator on the island.

The operator flashed word Saturday of a 15-minute gunbattle between a refugee fishing vessel and a 45-foot Cuban gunboat bearing the name "Joe Louis."

The Cubans said no one was hurt in the small arms fire and their fishing boats escaped safely. The refugees are expected to be sent to Miami for processing of their requests for political asylum in the U.S. Their names were not released pending processing.

Metal, Corn From Capsule Under Study

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Four kinds of metals and a few kernels of corn were studied by scientists today to determine how they reacted to a space flight which carried them 18 times around the earth.

They made the trip in the 300-pound capsule placed into orbit Friday by Discoverer 32 from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. The capsule was snagged by an Air Force crew northwest of Honolulu Saturday.

The metals — gold, iron, magnesium and nickel — were sent into space to determine which would provide the best shield to protect a man in orbit. The corn was being examined for genetic effects of space radiation.

The capsule was flown to Lockheed Missiles and Space Division at Sunnyvale. Scientists, from various universities and laboratories working with the federal government in a study of radiation and its effect on possible space flight, dismantled the capsule and removed the particles inside.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Theodore Roosevelt Association announced today its 1961 distinguished service medals would be awarded Oct. 27 to astronaut Alan Shepard, disarmament chief John McCloy and editor-philanthropist Erwin D. Canham.

ALL-OUT EFFORT SEEN

Nuclear War Would Be Over in a Hurry---Lapp

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A nuclear war between the United States and Russia would be all over in 24 or 48 hours because both sides would let go with their full atomic arsenals.

That's the grim forecast of scientist Ralph Lapp who helped build America's first atomic bombs and has worked on numerous other nuclear projects.

Few Restraints

"Once a war like this starts, I believe there will be few restraints," Lapp said. "You see, there is no difference really between a democracy and a totalitarian state once a war breaks out because the President cannot consult the people as to how they feel about something."

In such a holocaust, he said, "I do not think that you would ask whether or not you were winning. You would expend full effort be-

Over 100 Die in Viet Nam Floods

SAIGON (UPI)—Floods in monsoon-soaked South Viet Nam have killed more than 100 persons and wiped out an estimated 10 percent of the Communist-threatened nation's vital rice crop, it was reported today.

Lam Gnoc Chang, chief engineer of the government resettlement agency, estimated that 2,500 square miles of land along the mighty Mekong River are under water.

He said flood losses would virtually eliminate the rice exports which are an important source of foreign exchange.

Millions in SS Dollars Being Lost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Millions of dollars in Social Security benefits are going unclaimed because many people do not know they are eligible, according to the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW).

A spokesman said Sunday amendments to the Social Security law are coming so rapidly that many people, newly eligible for relief under the 1960 amendments, have not claimed their payments.

The 1960 amendments included a reduction in the amount of work needed to qualify for payments and added as beneficiaries the survivors of workers who died after March 31, 1938, as well as dependent widowers of women workers who died before September, 1930.

Officials Hold Building Rite

Hardin Hart, Jr., Palm Springs Unified School District board member, turned a symbolic shovel of sand to mark the beginning of site preparations for the 21,668 square-foot district maintenance, warehouse, and maintenance office building to be built on the city airport near Alejo Road.

The new facility, to be completed by the construction firm of Robinson and Wilson, San Bernardino, by May 1962, will cost $292,737.

It is located on a five acre site leased from the city on three-year renewal leases. A maximum of 50 years is provided in the city-school district lease.

The facility, which will include parking areas for the district bus fleet and service trucks, will include 6,000 square feet of shop space, 9,600 square feet of warehouse area, 3,500 square feet for the transportation facility, and 2,568 square feet for offices, showers, and locker-storage area.

The building was designed by Palm Springs architects Wexler and Harrison.

Victory for West
Some observers here argue, however, that the emergency aid will be a victory for pro-Western President Ngo Dinh Diem over his Red foes.

"This is our chance to hit the Communies where it hurts," one observer said. "We can show the farmers the West has a going concern here that is better than anything the communists can offer."

Retired U.S. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Kennedy's special military adviser, is on the way here to study the mounting Communist threat to South Viet Nam and consider means of stemming the tide.

Boy Scalded His Own Baby Sister

NORWALK (UPI)—Sheriff's deputies said today they planned to take no action against a 2-year-old boy who killed his 9-month-old sister by throwing her into a bathtub filled with scalding water.

Scott Mairand took his sister, Tamara Sue, from a crib in their home in Norwalk Sunday, filled the tub with scalding water and threw her in, deputies said.

More than 1 million earthquakes shake our planet each year and not one of them can be predicted.

12-Year-Old 'Number One' At New Bank

Twelve-year-old Gregory Hough, 172 Ocotillo Road, is a gentleman of distinction. He is maybe the only 12-year-old in the world to have his own banker.

Greg's personal banker is Harold West, manager of the new Bank of America branch at Tahquitz-McCallum and Farrell.

Greg opened his bank account with West when he was only 10 high, and ever since has been a one-man depositor. West handled every one of his transactions, through the years, and now Greg has a pretty handsome nest egg for a seventh grader (he goes to St. Theresa School).

When West's new branch opened Friday night, Greg was the first one to arrive — almost an hour before the ceremonies were scheduled to begin. He made a beeline for his banker, and after a brief conversation was filling out a brand new signature card.

As a result, when the branch opened for business today, the first savings ledger card to go in the file bore the legend "Savings Account No. 1 — Gregory Hough."

Gregory said his reason for wanting to be No. 1 was simple. "Mr. West is my Number one banker, so I wanted to be his first customer." He is. And according to Harold West, he always has been.

VALUABLE EXECUTIVE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Eastern Life Insurance Co., of New York reports that the Universal American Corp., has taken a $2 million policy on the life of one of its executives.

PERSONAL BANKER to 12-year-old Gregory Hough, left, is Harold West, manager of the new Bank of America branch at Tahquitz-McCallum and Farrell Drive. West has handled all of Greg's savings accounts deposits since the St. Theresa School seventh-grader first began his banking, and personally handled Greg's new account as "Savings Account No. 1" in the McCallum branch. Both customer and banker list each other as "number one."

Diplomat's Death Stirs Washington

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. citizens indulge in a moony self-deception that it can't happen here. It can't happen here because this is God's country, the home of the brave and so on.
What can't happen here are such things as political murder by foreign agents, debasement of the U. S. currency by jelly-spined politicians, nuclear bombs, armed invasion. Such things as that.
There was, indeed, a political kidnapping in the United States some years ago, followed, it appears, by murder in the Dominican Republic.
The kidnapped man was a Dominican scholar who had sought refuge in New York City and whose writings enraged the late dictator Rafael Trujillo. There was great public outcry and much editorial turbulence about this incident.

UN Death
There is no matching protest in sound or volume against the circumstances of the death of Povl Bang-Jensen, a Danish United Nations diplomat who also disappeared in New York. Bang-Jensen's body was found there, however, and the New York police wrote him off as a suicide.
There is provocative circumstantial evidence that Bang-Jensen was murdered or, more in the cloak and dagger tradition, that he was brainwashed into taking his own life. Induced suicide, it is called.

The Senate subcommittee on Internal Security cites this evidence and asserts that the finding of simple suicide in the case of Bang-Jensen was based on incomplete evidence. The subcommittee suspects that Bang-Jensen was put away by Soviet secret agents because he knew too much.

Six Suicides
Moreover, the subcommittee insists not merely that it can happen here but that it has happened here several times. The subcommittee report cites six suicides of recent years in each of which there was reason to suspect Soviet agents. Four of these suicides were Americans:

—Lawrence Duggan, former senior U. S. Foreign Service officer who died on Dec. 20, 1948. The report says Duggan "jumped or was pushed out of a New York office building window" after being named as a member of the Communist underground in the U. S. government. "Suicide" the subcommittee asked, "or, did someone fear that Duggan was getting ready to tell his story?"

—Louis Adamic, a pro-Communist publicist whose Sept. 4, 1951 death appeared to be suicide but is suspected to have been an instance of murder by Communist agents.

—Walter Marvin Smith, a Justice Department attorney, died Oct. 24, 1948, in a five-story fall down a department stairwell. Smith possessed key evidence linking Alger Hiss with the Communist Party.

—Morton E. Kent, former government employee, was found dead June 12, 1949, apparently a suicide. His name popped up in the Judith Coplon espionage trial.

The subcommittee said there was no ironclad proof that these were Communist murders disguised as suicides. It said the circumstantial evidence was strong, however, and in some cases overwhelming.

Private Space Satellite Communications Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special industry committee today proposed creation of a nonprofit corporation to develop, own and operate a globe-circling space satellite communications system.

A group representing 10 firms made the proposal in a report to the Federal Communications Commission. The committee was created in July by President Kennedy to formulate U. S. plans for a commercial satellite system for world-wide relay of telephone, telegraph and television.

The committee recommended that the space-age corporation be headed by three directors appointed by the President and two directors from each participating company.

THE BODY OF Lt. Enrique Escobar, killed in Columbia's "lieutenants' revolt," lies where he was slain by a fellow officer when he "resisted arrest." Columbia was under a state of seige and the government opened an investigation into the revolt, described officially as one in a series of "continued attacks" threatening the country. The revolt, involving two lieutenants and 135 rookie troops, was crushed in less than ten hours without a shot fired. Escobar was the only known fatality in the uprising. (UPI Telephoto)

Rocket Men Ask for Moon Flight Project

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Soviet space program, although lacking in technical refinements, is leading the race to manned moon flight, a panel of eminent Western space experts agreed.

But two proposals for quickly catching up with the Russians in this race and space propaganda were labeled unfeasible by three top U. S. missile men.

The proposals put forth at the American Rocket Society meeting called for an immediate start of a manned lunar flight program and a satellite communications system to televise the 1964 Olympics around the world.

They were opposed by Werner von Braun, Marshall Space Flight Center director; Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Gen. A. B. Schriever, Air Force systems command chief.

Schriever said he would be surprised if the Russians did not launch a 50-ton satellite "very soon." Such a satellite would indicate sufficient rocket power for a manned lunar flight.

The panel agreed with the findings of F. J. Krieger, Santa Monica, Calif., a noted authority on Soviet space power. He said there were indications censorship and security measures hindered co-ordination of the Russian space program. He also expressed the belief the Russians were disinterested in giving more than lip service to developing peace-purposeful satellite communications and weather systems or unmanned space exploration by machinery.

Von Braun stated the case against an immediate manned moon flight program based on presently operational missiles. He said it would be "like trying to fly the Berlin air lift with Piper Cubs."

Schriever said a global TV relay network of satellites, proposed by the panel moderator, Arthur Clarke, past president of the British Interplanetary Society, was unattainable by 1964. He said other satellite communications systems, particularly military ones, might get first priority.

Ban Publications

BELGRADE (UPI)—The Yugoslav government Thursday banned Newsweek Magazine and the Sept. 27 issue of the New York Herald Tribune's Paris edition, it was announced in the official Gazette.

The actions were taken under the new press law providing for bans when publications "attack the honor of the head of the Yugoslav state, high state organs, and the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries accredited to Yugoslavia."

Art Linkletter; New Pied Piper

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If Art Linkletter should find himself unemployed he can always get into the child psychology business.

The big, bluff TV personality-businessman-author is a modern Pied Piper who knows more about kids than the entire population of Hamelin.

He should. Linkletter interviews four youngsters every day on his "House Party" show. Any man who goes before millions of viewers matching wits with a pack of kids is clearly out of his mind, or smarter than the average nuclear scientist.

Art, in this case, could build an atom smasher.

He not only keeps the upper hand with the little characters, but has written a best-selling book, "Kids Say the Darndest Things," which sold more than 500,000 copies.

Now the CBS star is bringing out a sequel, "Kids Still Say the Darndest Things."

Save Gems for Art

The peculiar part of it is, kids generally confine their darndest sayings to Linkletter while the rest of the adult population somehow fails to communicate with the sandpile set.

What affinity does Art have for the runny-nosed little savages?

"I get along with children because I like them and they know it," he said. "They talk to me in an attitude of play, which is not the case in their conversations with most adults."

"I'm sort of a kindred spirit. To them I'm a big kid, in addition to being a big kiddier."

Over the years Art has developed hidden techniques for bringing out the humor in youngsters, skilled devices that shame many a head shrinker who attempts to set a wayward child aright.

Treats Them Seriously

"I never laugh at a child's remarks, no matter how outlandish

they may be," he explained. "I give thoughtful consideration to what they say and try to give them a serious answer."

"For instance, the other day I asked a boy who the president of the United States was. He said: 'Richard F. Kennedy.' I didn't laugh. I just told him he knew as much as most people do about politics, and he was well pleased with himself."

"You must be consistent with children. They have a keen sense of fair play, and if a grown-up takes advantage of them they refuse to cooperate."

Linkletter, a strict but fair parent in his home, enjoys the company of children as much as adults.

To Leave Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI)—Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon should be well enough to leave Montefiore Hospital in a few days.

Krishna Menon, who also represents his country at the United Nations, was operated on for removal of a blood clot last Saturday. Dr. Leo Davidoff reported the diplomat is "doing very well."

Soap, Water Won't Wash Ink Stains

Summer vacation is over, and as the children return to school, many of them are carrying their first fountain pens. The pens are fine, but in inexperienced hands they may be the ruin of clothing and linen. Many mothers will find evidence of schoolroom experiments in the form of trails of ink across shirts and dresses.

Stains made by a permanent ink will not wash out with soap and water, and even bleaching may not always be successful.

Bleaching compounds must be handled carefully, and always according to directions. They should be used only on white cotton and linen fabrics, because there is always the possibility of color removal, and they should never be applied to wool and silk because they may do permanent damage to the fabric.

The commonly used blue-black ink is an iron ink. That is, it contains iron and a tannin compound as well as some dyestuff.

The best bet for removing ink or other stains from fabrics is to take it to a professional launderer or drycleaner.

Halloween Revels For Young and Old

That time when ghosts and black cats reign supreme is almost here. Halloween is the fun night of the year for the youngsters and those oldsters, too, who are still young enough in spirit to enjoy a good party.

After the traditional tricking and treating is at an end continue the reveling at home with a party for the neighborhood kids and their parents.

To guarantee a party mood present each child with a gaily decorated balloon hat. Make saucy pumpkins for the girls and amusing owls for the boys. Each hat is made by attaching a blown up balloon securely to the top of an 8" paper plate. For the pumpkin cut features from colored gummed crepe paper and paste in place. Cover a small size paper plate with flameproof crepe paper, decorate with leaf shapes cut from crepe paper and paste on top of balloon for a hat. Decorate the larger plate with leaves, too, and add a ruffle of bright orange crepe paper around the neck of the pumpkin. Attach a piece of elastic to the sides of the plate to hold in place on the wearer.

For Mr. Owl covered the paper plate with 3" rows of brown flameproof crepe paper. Cut rows into points, then slash the sides of the points to give a feathery look. Cut beak and ears from brown gummed crepe paper. Make eyes by gathering a narrow strip of orange crepe paper to form a circle. Paste another circle of yellow gummed crepe paper in the center with a smaller one of black for the eye itself. Hold hat in place with elastic.

Dress up the party table and intrigue the youngsters at the same time with a smiling black cat pinata, containing Halloween surprises for everyone. Cut a cat's head shape from black mat stock and cover with 3" rows of fringed black crepe paper. Make eyes and mouth from colored gummed crepe paper and paste in place. Curl heavy wire to make whiskers. Invert a shopping bag, reinforce the open end with a band of cardboard. Fill bag with surprises and cover in opening with heavy paper or cardboard. Cut out the center of the reinforcement, fasten ribbon streamers to a double layer of tissue paper and paste in opening. Cover the three sides of the bag with rows of fringed black crepe paper and paste cat on front. Add large bow to of bright orange flameproof crepe paper and suspend over table.

After the food has disappeared remove the party table, blindfold each youngster and give each a turn at trying to break open the grinning cat. It's fun for the kids and a purr-fectly grand way to end their Halloween Revel.

"Imported From California" was the theme of the $12,000 MAGIC-BAGIC style show presented to a pop-eyed crowd, poolside at the Riviera.

Eyes were popping at the colors . . . and they were hot news. Hot pink and orange (stolen from the distaff designs) and peacock blue lead the trend to brightness.

One company capitalized on the California theme and dubbed their lime, lemon and orange shades the citrus colors. Others capitalized on our nation's chauvinistic nature and came out with red, white and blue flying colors.

Some manufacturers seemed to be regressive in their styling. On over - the - pool ramps, models paraded in double-breasted blazers, wesuits, wide - striped cardigans and cravats.

One cardigan turned up with three-quarter length sleeves and could possibly meet with roaring success . . . if worn to a Roaring 20's party with the appropriate straw hat, cane and John L's.

Meeting with instant success in our fast-paced world was the tuxedo with a short cut. Gone will be the days of the cumbersome cummerbund . . . this number, with an all - in - one cummerbund waistband, numbered the days of any tuxedo manufactured to date.

Speaking of tuxedos, maybe someone wishing to chuck last month's model could chuck it Curt Lederers way. He's been invited to a white tie affair and doesn't own a tuxedo.

Curt would be a good bet for a "I've Got A Secret" contestant. He could be touted as the only man who didn't own a tuxedo . . . while owning a swank men's shop . . . that won an award for the best-dressed windows . . . during a MAGIC convention . . . in Palm Springs.

Another good contestant bet would be MAGIC's vice president on "What's My Line." This man is sure to stump them, if he doesn't have to "sign in." His name is Ray C. Steil. (If you don't get it, try saying his name more quickly).

BAGIC news is that boys will no longer have the boyish look. They'll have the junior look and look like Dad minus the whiskers. Boys will be slim and trim, down to their narrow lapels and ties, and will look especially well in colorful wesuits.

Serious men of fashion will fall into two categories: the City Look, or the Country Gentleman Look. Guess someone like Edgar Schill, Palm Springs Best Dressed Man, would have the Thunderbird Country Gentleman Look.

The universal trend is the American look, followed by the slim-trim California silhouette, which makes its debut in Palm Springs, California's favorite spa.

Corn Turnovers Easy Main Dish

NEW YORK (UPI) — Corn meal turnovers make a quick and easy main dish. Sift together 1/2 cup of enriched corn meal, 2 cups of sifted all-purpose flour, teaspoon of salt and 2 teaspoons of baking powder. Cut in 1/2 cup of shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in 1 cup of milk. Mix lightly. Turn out on floured board or canvas. Knead gently several times. Divide dough in half.

Roll each portion to a 6-by-18-inch rectangle. Cut each into three 6-inch squares. Cut 1 (1 pound) can of corned beef hash into 6 slices. Place slices on one corner of each turnover. Top with slice of process cheese. Fold dough to form triangle. Seal edges, first moistening with water. Prick surface. Place on cookie sheet. Bake 12 to 15 minutes in a preheated 425-degree oven. Serve with spicy tomato sauce. Serves 6.

Electronic Brain Makes Just Right Gift Selections

Electronic brains now help to solve the gift selecting problem. Feed a computer some facts on those persons on your gift list and in less than 60 seconds back comes a passel of suggestions.

The computer gift advisory service is an idea of a Dallas, Tex., store (Neiman-Marcus). It works this way. First, the shopper fills out a multiple choice form designed to describe the individual for whom he or she wishes to buy a gift. On it, the shopper specifies such information as age, sex, interests, profession and hobbies of the recipient. This then is punched onto computer cards. Cards are "read" into the machine at speeds up to 800 per minute. The computer chews over all this data on its "electronic image" of the recipient, selects a list of 10 items which appear

Gingerbread House Sweetens Cahuilla PTA Membership

A gingerbread house with little gingerbread men is tempting appetites out at Cahuilla School and stirring up interest in Cahuilla PTA's annual membership drive, which has been launched by Mrs. Vahan Alchian, PTA president, and Mrs. Abraham Malch, membership chairman.

Carrying out the theme of the membership drive, "Up a Sweet Path to Success," the gingerbread concoction is the work of Mrs. Paul Pospesil, honorary life member of PTA. Each grade will have a gingerbread man in its room, running a race "up a sweet path" in an effort to reach the goal of 100 per cent membership of parents. The winning class will be treated to a gingerbread man party, special art work in connection with the membership drive, has been done by Mrs. Claude Valeur.

The first regular PTA meeting What's new undercover is colorful girdles and bras splashed with turquoise and orange prints.

Syrian Revolt Blow to UAR Felt by Nasser

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
PARIS (UPI)—The Syrian revolt dealt a severe blow to the prestige of UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser, but the new Syrian regime is not yet out of the woods and Nasser probably has not made his last move.

American correspondents permitted for the first time into Damascus after the Sept. 29 overthrow of the Nasser regime in Syria reported an apparent broad base of support for the new government of Premier Mamoun Al-Kubari.

The questions now are the steps to be taken toward recognition of the new regime by the Western powers and the Soviet Union, Nasser's next move and the success of efforts by the Kubari government to solidify its support among the working people, peasants and students.

Nasser's next step especially must be awaited because the Egyptian leader has been on the ropes before, notably during the Anglo-French invasion of Suez, but has emerged successfully and still in control.

More Foreign Aid
UPI correspondents in Syria's next door neighbor Lebanon report that a further necessity for the success of the new government will be quick massive doses of foreign aid to finance the large scale construction and development projects started under Nasser.

The first jarring effects of Syrian revolt on the Middle East as a whole appear to have been largely absorbed.

Israel, bordering Syria and a favorite target of Nasser propaganda attacks, naturally was pleased.

Jordan's young King Hussein, also from time to time a Nasser target, also was pleased and promptly recognized the new regime, as did Turkey which also borders Syria.

But it was notable that beyond Nasser's brief and abortive paratroop attack on the Syrian rebels, Mideast boundaries remained quiet and nowhere did troops go lunging toward a border.

Threat Is Past
French Foreign Office observers who traditionally keep a close eye on Mideast events, now believe any threat of military action largely has disappeared.

Such action, they believe, would have to have taken place within the first few days.

If the new regime is successful and if there is no outside interference, such as from the Communists, it is possible a new Mideast alignment will develop.

But these are "ifs" dependent upon a still unsettled situation.

If the coup proved anything, it proved that there still is no such thing as Arab unity and that events in the Mideast revolve around a few outstanding individuals and ancient hatreds.

Iraq Quiet
Iraq has remained silent but Premier Gen. Abdul Kassem undoubtedly would be willing to strengthen his hand in the struggle for Arab leadership against Nasser.

Saudi Arabia has mended its fences in its frequently strained relations with Nasser but there is no love lost between the Egyptian ruler and the ruling family composed of the sons of old Ibn Saud.

Turkey, a non-Arab country, also has had frequent troubles with Nasser under the former UAR, but in the present circumstances has worries of its own.

The single unifying factor in the Mideast has been the Arab hatred of Israel.

Within a few hours of the outset of any military action, Israel could muster 200,000 well-trained and equipped men in the field and remains the strongest military power able to hold its own against any proven Arab combination.

As the situation now stands, Nasser has lost much of the force with which he appeared as an Arab spokesman before the unaligned nations at Belgrade in September or as he appeared before the United Nations a year ago.

Foreign Use of Silver Stirs Financial Interest

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some interest has been shown by a few financial publications in recent weeks in a metal which has played a prominent part in American history, silver.

Financial World, a weekly published by the Guehrer Publishing Company in New York, noted that in the period since World War II there has been little change in the industrial use of silver in the United States but a "sharp growth" abroad, particularly in West Germany and Japan.

Coinage uses have drawn some demand in France and Italy, and an investment house here in its monthly publication estimated that world use topped new supply by an average of 67 million ounces a year over the last decade.

This was new supply. A spokesman for a prominent metal fabricating house here said today that it would be extremely chancy to say that there was any shortage of silver in the world, because of the unknown resources of foreign nations and what they might do with them on the market.

At the same time, he said there could develop "a shortage at a price"—and he emphasized the "at a price," because it is in this field that other unpredictable factors play a part.

The present United States laws, passed in 1946, authorized the Treasury to buy newly-mined domestic silver at 90 1/2 cents an ounce and sell it—but only for domestic industrial use—at not less than 91 cents.

Under this legislation, a dealer may not simply buy this silver in what is most easily described as its raw form and resell it to foreign buyers at a higher price. He may fabricate the silver into a wire, or a sheet, or some industrial product and sell the fabricated material abroad at whatever price he can get.

This silver available from the Treasury comes from what is known as free stocks. This does not mean that they are given away, but that they are free, or available, for purchase.

Lend-Lease Returns
In 1938, this stock had been built up to about 202.2 million ounces, much of it from the return of silver which was lent—loaned to other countries during World War II. But at the start of 1960, this stock was down to about 123.5 million ounces. Financial World said the figure today is estimated to be about 61 million ounces.

"At the recent rate of attrition," said Financial World, "the remaining supply of free Treasury silver will last less than another year. There seems little question that higher prices will be witnessed within the medium term future, but there is wide disagreement as to the timing and also as to the extent of the rise. However, higher quotations would increase secondary supplies from scrap and demonetized foreign coin, and might bring out metal known to be hoarded in India and Communist China.

"Thus, it is impossible to predict the extent of any price rise with any great degree of precision."

Cancer Quackery On the Increase

CORONADO (UPI)—Cancer quackery is on the increase in California despite the fact that the state has the toughest antiquackery laws in the nation, according to a member of the state Quackery Control Advisory Council.

Mrs. Robert L. Brown of Los Angeles told the California Division of the American Cancer Society Thursday that the attorney general's office, in cooperation with the quackery control council, will be asked to study ways of obtaining cease and desist orders against methods and medicines rather than against individuals.

At present, enforcement of antiquackery measures is slow and difficult because a separate action must be filed in each case, Mrs. Brown said.

Miller's Book Still Means Trouble

They haven't been able to permanently ban Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer" in Boston, but the controversial novel still means trouble to booksellers in Chicago and New Brunswick, N.J.

Sales of "Tropic of Cancer" have been stopped under a temporary restraining order in Boston and Massachusetts. A judge now is considering a demand by the state that the order be made permanent.

of Des Plaines, Ill., where paper bound copies were seized, said he considers it the "dirtiest book I ever saw."

Prosecutor Edward J. Dolan of Middlesex County, N.J., described it as the "vilest collection of filth between two covers that I have ever examined." He ordered police in all 25 of the county's municipalities to confiscate any copies they find.

In the 27 years since it was written—and banned—Bostonians have mellowed toward Miller. When Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., of Massachusetts sought a state-wide ban on "Tropic of Cancer" last month, some of New England's most eminent men of letters defended the book at the official hearing.

Massachusetts booksellers say they don't really care about the outcome—still undetermined. Spicy novels are so easy to come by nowadays in Boston that there isn't much demand for "Tropic of Cancer," the book dealers said. Los Angeles police seized 74 copies of the book in a raid at a Hollywood book store this week. Vice squad Capt. Charles Stanley said the book was "disgustingly obscene." The Los Angeles public library hasn't decided whether to place "Tropic of Cancer" on its shelves.

Public libraries at Atlanta and Louisville solved the problem by placing "Tropic of Cancer" on their limited circulation lists. That means the borrower must specifically request it and it is not kept on the open shelves through which readers browse.

"Tropic of Cancer" was written in 1934 but it was not openly sold published in the United States until a recent Justice Department ruling that it was artistic.

While the dove is considered an emblem of peace, it will mercilessly peck an opponent to death if engaged in combat.

Television in Review

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—The button down mind of Bob Newhart and the eye-opening scorn of David Brinkley gave NBC-TV's Wednesday night roster a snappy one-two wallop.
"The Bob Newhart Show" had a relaxed, fresh manner about it and got off to an impressive start. Newhart went through three monologues and a full-scale sketch and each appearance succeeded in piling up phenomenal laugh totals.
His timing is fine-tuned to the audience's vibrations. His material, supplied by himself and four sympathetic comedy spirits, was consistently entertaining and never wavered from the image of Newhart's halting but perceptive nuder.
One inspired routine, about Phil's Fires, Inc., a privately-owned city fire department (he asks a frantic caller, "Do you have an account with us?") went off with a laugh-a-second vigor, almost. It lasted a few beats too long.
More sly digs came in a routine that had Newhart portraying a tuckered-out, high-pitched Tarzan. Seems his tree house was depressing real estate values in his section of Africa and he was having trouble with his neighbors. Or, as Tarzan put it, "Go argue with a head-hunter who's been to Princeton."
A lot of Newhart's pookish approach also turns up on the new NBC-TV show that follows him, "David Brinkley's Journal."
The Brinkley format, however, is in the news category. He deals with explorations, via perceptive words and films, of the modern vulgarities that infest our civilization.
He opened his series with a call to action against slovenly house-keeping. This was done with films of junk yards, slums, garbage heaps, winos, littered streets, while "America the Beautiful" was sung in the background. Another segment picked up some boom-town barnacles at Cocoa Beach, Fla., near Cape Canaveral. One motel owner was shown phoning his kitchen as Gus Grissom was launched into space. The cook was told to institute "plan A," a "real party" for the pool-side guests.
With Jack Paar playing "beat the press" on our side of the ocean, Brinkley was left with the British press. He dissected a swinging London tabloid, the Daily Mirror, which looks on the sexy side of life and, like television, considers itself in the entertainment business. The segment was meaty and beautifully done.

Page 8 THE DESERT SUN

We Erred, So Did Council

The Desert Sun made a mistake in its banner on Page one last Tuesday, if the mounting tide of public indignation is to be believed.

On Tuesday, The Desert Sun banner said, "P.S. COUNCIL-AT-LARGE DEAD."

If scores of telephone calls to this newspaper and dozens of on-the-street comments can be believed, the public is not going to let this one die. Neither are we.

The burden of the public complaint is that the action of the Palm Springs City Council Monday night in refusing to allow the voters to consider a council-at-large plan of city elections was arrogant.

This is, perhaps, too harsh. It is equally possible that the council, with all goodwill, mistakenly believed it was voting for or against a council-at-large form of election. Actually, of course, it was merely voting whether or not to allow the voters to choose their form of representation.

Once understood, the problem then becomes, "What can be done now?"

First, and most practical, would be the voiding of the present call for a December 12 special election set to decide whether or not to re-district. The council could then submit to the voters a ballot, probably in later December or early January asking whether the voters wished to re-district or whether they wished to elect their councilmen city-wide.

Failing in that course, the council could void the December 12 election (why spend the $4,000?) and put the re-districting issue before the voters at the regular April election.

If the December re-districting election remains on the schedule as a sole issue after Monday night, there will not be time, legally, for a referendum petition to be circulated, signed and filed sufficiently in advance of the councilmanic elections in April.

Hence, even if such a petition were successful, as many voters believe it would be, its effect could not be felt partially for two years and fully for four.

We believe the council sincerely wishes to reflect the wishes of the majority of its constituents. In that belief, we urge their submission of these big issues to their constituents for their decision.

Effort Was Misplaced

Mortimer M. Caplin, U.S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has assured the public that his department is keeping it in mind and that the new income tax forms are being changed to make filling them out easier.

Individual taxpayers who are required to file 1961 returns will have only two forms to choose from instead of three.

Form 1040, as revised, is much shorter and should be much easier to fill out, he says.

That's all to the good but that portion of the public which is stuck with the forms would be much happier if the Internal Revenue Service would bend its efforts to shortening the tax itself and to making it easier to pay.

Remember When ...

OCTOBER 16, 1951

Zaddie Bunker, president of the Desert Art Center, Inc., announced that plans for enlargement of the Art Center at Cathedral City have been approved.

Anticipating a heavy traffic load Chief of Police A. G. Kettmann and Loren Moore, district highway engineer, conferred on a one-way street plan for the city's two main arteries, Palm Canyon Drive and Indian Avenue.

Ashton A. Stanley of the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles, was elected president of the California State Hotel association as they closed a four-day convention here. More than 500 delegates attended the sessions.

OCTOBER 16, 1941

Ralph Nesmith, humane officer, posted a reward of $150 at the police station for information leading to the arrest of a pet poisoner following the death of two dogs and three cats in the north end of town.

Flames in a store house which for a time threatened to spread to the Oasis Hotel did $1,000 damage, Fire Chief Bill Leonasio estimated.

Mrs. Maude Libbott was appointed chairman of the Palm Springs branch of the Riverside County Tuberculosis association.

OCTOBER 16, 1931

A traveling salesman hit the jackpot en route to Palm Springs. He came upon three women in a stalled auto and rendered aid. Later in a restaurant here, he saw them again — Louise Dresser, Alice White and Sally O'Neil, here for a little sunshine and rest from the movie camera.

A son was born to Mrs. John R. E. Chaffey in a Los Angeles hospital. It is the Chaffey's third boy.

O. S. McKinney killed a deer in the Morongo mountains northeast of Palm Springs.

Dear Abby ...

... by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: You may not believe this, but I have been married to a man for 34 years, and I still have never seen his paycheck. (He has an excellent white-collar job.) Nor have I seen any of his insurance policies, but I know he carries lots of insurance. I have no idea how much money he has in the bank, nor do I know if the mortgage on our house is paid. My monthly allowance is so small I am ashamed to tell you what it is. We have never had a vacation. He says we can't afford it. We are not getting any younger. I think I should have a complete understanding of our financial affairs. He says it is none of my business. It's his money. How can I change things?

WAR HORSE'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: After 34 years of silence, it would be pretty difficult to teach an old war horse new tricks. Ask him if he wants to bring you up-to-date on the family finances, or would he rather you asked his banker, lawyer and insurance agent? You are his partner, you know.

DEAR ABBY: I know you are going to say that this is just puppy love but, believe me, it is not. I may be only 14 years old, but I know this is the real thing. Peter is 16, and he feels the same way about it. Our parents laugh at us when we say we are in love, and want to get married when we are through school. We have gone together for four months, two weeks and three days. How can we prove to the world that this is really love?

J AND J
DEAR J AND J: Go with each other for another FIVE YEARS.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

This Side of The Sun

By R. F. 'Phat' Graettinger

This is the week we toot our own horn

With vigor and pleasure, of modesty shorn.

And why not? All through the year there are special days, weeks and even months set aside for various organizations, products, individuals and animals. Newspapers go all out to support them.

This week we get to talk about ourselves. It's National Newspaper Week — Oct. 15 to 21.

OUTSIDE of a brief dalliance with a government job, the rest of my years have been in gainful employment with newspapers, stringing words together, hopeful they'll come out with a reasonable facsimile of sense.

That's been going on for a half century and its more fun every year.

You got a lot of mail in this endeavor. Some of it nice and from some of the rest, you learn new words.

THE FOUNDING FATHERS of Palm Springs did a good job, but they made one big mistake. That is, as far as newsmen are concerned.

When they laid out the town, they forgot all about providing alleys.

So when an editor or a reporter goes — they are no different from other people — there's no place to dodge. They have to walk down the main street smack in the public's eye.

EVER THINK of the chances to make a mistake?

The editor of a small newspaper in Idaho figured it out this way.

"Did you know that in the expression 'To Be or Not to Be' by Shakespeare alone, 2,739,022 errors can be made? In an ordinary newspaper column there are 10,000 letters, and their are seven possible wrong positions for each letter making 70,000 chances to make errors and several million chances for trans-positions. There are 48 columns in this paper so you can readily see the chances for mistakes."

MY HOBBY, outside of a dozen or so others, is to clip out funny mistakes and paste them in a scrap book. Like that society story in a Georgia newspaper. The society girl wrote "cocktails from six to eight" and went home through the alleys when she read her prose that evening.

It said that the most prominent social lights in town would serve cocktails from "six until tight."

I LIKE HEADLINES, too. Like in a Nebraska paper: "Torrington Man Gets Sanitary Board Seat" and from West Virginia "Triplets Born on Labor Day."

My favorite of all time and which heads the scrap book is that one from New Jersey. Over a story detailing a hunting accident was the heading: FATHER OF ELEVEN SHOT, MISTAKEN FOR RABBIT.

OF COURSE, these typographical twists cause anguished groans after the paper is out. But, according to the Idaho editor mentioned upstairs a ways, there are thousands, maybe millions, of chances to make them in a day's issue. When you figure the odds, it's a wonder there aren't more.

But newspapering, as I said above, is a lot of fun and there are breaks every day and I don't mean coffee breaks. Herm Albright, writing in Editor and Publisher, describes one in verse:

Typewriters stop, heads are turned
Is a big story about to loom?
Nope, it's just a shapely blond
Who's come into the city room.

Conservatism Gaining In National Thinking

By HOLMES ALEXANDER
WASHINGTON, D. C. — Shortly after the Cuban fiasco, Senator Barry Goldwater was called to the White House and, arriving in the President's office before the President, sat down to try out the famous rocking chair. When the President entered, he good-humoredly said:

"Barry, if you want the chair, you can have it — and this (censored) job, too."

The remark was spoken in jest, of course, like many true words. The men are on easy terms and both are patients of Dr. Janet Travell, who is frequently given time off by the President to treat the Senator. But the happy example of good sportsmanship and good sense contains also a hard glimpse of truth.

These two men, John Kennedy and Barry Goldwater, are the winners of uphill fights as leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties, are the chosen champions of Left and Right, are in a running battle that will carry through three more Congressional sessions and many other confrontations and that will end with a decision that will far surpass in significance the meaningless election of last year. Moreover — and this I believe to be the least known fact in the public domain — Mr. Kennedy and Liberalism are on the skids, while Senator Goldwater and his Conservatism are up and coming so fast that they could sweep the country by 1964.

The Facts are There

It would be redundant at this date to document the New Frontier's failure at home and abroad, its loss of prestige with the metropolitan press and its loss of face with the American people. Besides, the causes of JFK's failure lie further in the past, and deeper in their causes, than is evident by events of the 87th Congress, the dismal performance over Cuba, Laos, West Berlin and elsewhere. Many of us who have covered the stretch of history in the past decade have sensed and reported the tides of change in American thinking. And now the momentous but unfinished revolution of thought is chronicled in a book whose title, "Revolt on the Campus," is misleading in its modesty. M. Stanton Evans, editor at 27 of the Indianapolis News, is writing of his own generation, which grew up in 1951-61. But he is also recording with vast information and perfect aplomb something that could be called the Great Awakening of the nation in that period.

"It was for American Liberalism," Evans writes of Inauguration Day, 1961, "the worst of times."

There Is a Change

Despite surface evidences, a young Liberal President in office and the accent on youthful intellectualism, the youth of America had already begun to clear its head of Liberal dialectics and to give its heart to Barry Goldwater. The first alarm bell of the night had sounded back in 1951 when William F. Buckley, Jr.'s "God and Man at Yale" dared all campus faculties, all college alumni, all boards of college trustees to come out and fight on their alleged "academic freedom" to foster godlessness, nihilism and anti-patriotism in the institutes of higher learning.

Evans is no word-waster, and it takes him 241 tight pages to tell what happened, and why. The revolt which started on the campus now flourishes through the writings, speeches and influences of the scores of young authors, editors, organizers and politicians whose names and affiliations are given in this running tale. To mention a few would be an injustice to the many.

Anybody who doesn't know, or wants to confirm, what has really happened to American thinking as we push into the 1960's should start by reading "Revolt on the Campus." It is the best single volume on the recent past, and it points a level finger toward a Citadel of Hope which admittedly lies down a road of many dangers.

Lopez Sends Quarter Million Down Drain

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK. — The full-share New York Yankees will receive about $7,400 each and the losing Cincinnati Reds regulars about $5,300 per head out of the players' cut of the world series.

The top pay of the guy who discovered the country where the games were played — Admiral of the Sea Christopher Columbus — was $200 a year.

That's almost one fifth of what the Yankee batboy will get.

Still another financial note: When Hector Lopez caught Vada Pison's fly ball to end the World Series four games to one in favor of the Yankees, Yankee co-owner Del Webb said to co-owner Dan Topping.

"Dan, I never enjoyed losing a quarter of a million dollars better in my life."

That's what it would have meant to the Yankee owners if the series had gone back to the stadium for two more.

Baseball Is An Honest Game.

Flight Cancelled

The first announcement made by the stewardess aboard the United Airlines caravelle charter leaving Cincinnati Monday evening with American League President Joe Cronin and others of the winning clan was this:

"United regrets to announce the cancellation of the charter that had been booked to fly the Cincinnati Reds to New York."

We don't know anybody who really resents seeing the Yankees win another title. Over the years the majority of baseball fans has concluded that a World Series is an early October sports event in which the Yankees take on whichever team happens to win in the National League. It is not so much a test of the Yankees as it is a measurement of the other club — its pitchers, hitters, fielding, strategy and luck. The Yanks remain the yardstick. One Yankee team is about as good as another.

A Ruth gives way to Gehrig, a Gehrig to a Dimaggio, a Dimaggio to a Mantle. A Hoyt turns the pitching to a Penneck, and the ball thereafter goes to the hands of a Gomez, a Ruffing, a Reynolds, a Turley, a Ford. A Houk inherits from a Stengel. It's the other side that changes. The Yanks have met (and generally mastered) Giants, Cards, Cubs, Dodgers, Phils, Braves, Pirates and Reds. All eight.

Muscles Muzzled
The Cincinnati Muscles Department — Pinson, Robinson, Post (to a degree) and Freese — was pathetic in the series. Mayo Smith, a former Cincinnati manager who scouted the club for the Yanks, was congratulated on the outstanding job he did in diagnosing the Chinks in their armor.

Mayo shrugged.
"Don't forget our pitchers," he said. "They had to throw the ball

Letters to The Editor

The Editor
Desert Sun
Palm Springs

I want to congratulate the City Department responsible for doing such a magnificent job in fouling up Indian Avenue.

They have successfully converted a fine four-lane thoroughfare into a dizzy crazyquilt with one lane each way.

They have left wide spaces in the middle of each block that could be planted with flowers. No traffic can use it.

They have made it illegal for north-bound traffic to turn left into the Plaza, the Bank of America, or the new City parking lot. Thus such traffic, to be legal, must go over on Palm Canyon Drive and come around the block. This increases the traffic load on Palm Canyon Drive. Splendid!

The dopes who figured this stupid system out should beware of the little men from Paton with the white jackets.

put a rap on any town or its populace, including Sodom and Gomorrah.

"Then how about that smart aleck New York fellow Jim Murray who's been writing in our paper?" she demanded triumphantly. "He's from Los Angeles," Mel said.

"Well, he writes like those New York fellows," the old lady snapped.

Grossman Wins City Tennis Crown in Three-Set Final

CITY CHAMPS. Two young high school tennis stars took most of the honors yesterday in the annual City-sponsored Tennis Championships at the Racquet Club. Gary Grossman, 16, left, not only took the singles crown but

Jandreau Bows In Finals in All Divisions

Young Gary Grossman, 16-year-old tennis star for the Palm Springs High School champions, became a local champion in his own right yesterday when he won the annual City Tennis Championships at the Racquet Club.

Grossman also teamed with young Steve Rosin to take off the men's doubles crown as well in the events sponsored by the City's Recreation department.

The mixed doubles crown went to a team composed of Marge Jackson and Mort Ulman.

It was a tough day for Chuck Jandreau, who reached the finals in all three events and had to play seven tough competitive sets on a hot day. The Junior High School teacher deserved a better fate as his top play getting to the finals in all three divisions was superb.

All three finals yesterday were exciting matches as the scores indicated. It took Grossman three sets to wear out Jandreau in the singles, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1; and both doubles matches needed some extra games although both were straight set wins.

The score pretty much tells the story in the men's singles. Jandreau started out as though he would easily win the match. The younger Grossman, however, barely turned the game's complexion in the second game, and the third set was the first in reverse as the tired Jandreau couldn't cope with Grossman's steady play.

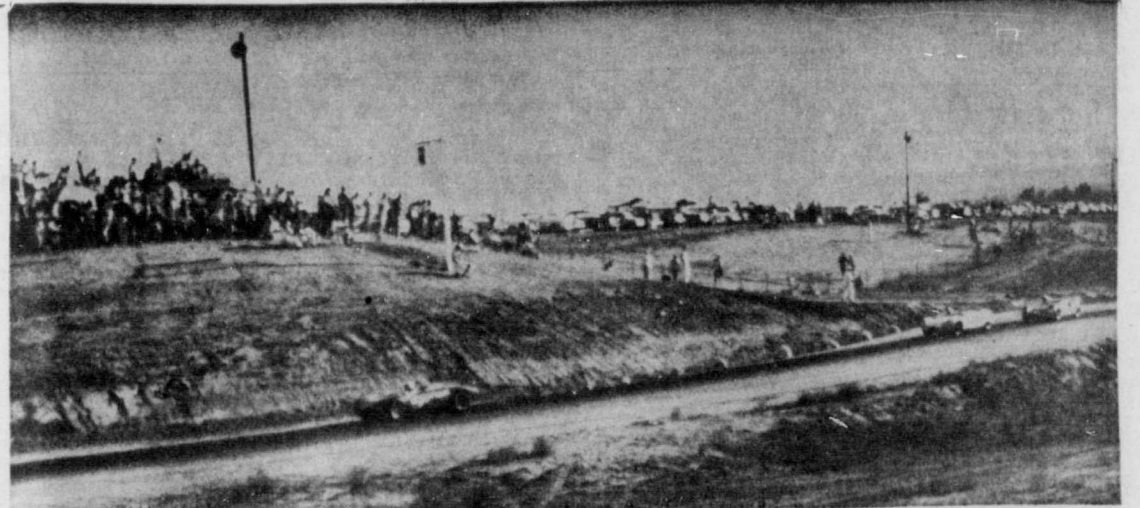

In the men's doubles, the difference appeared to be Steve Rosin's big serve, as Jandreau teamed with Maurice Smith to give the high school youngsters a tough battle before bowing. The scores were 11-9 and 6-4, which shows that top doubles play was necessary for victory. Grossman's steady play came in handy to complement Rosin's aggressive play and it took every bit of youthful vigor on the part of both youngsters to turn the trick.

Jandreau's third setback was in the mixed doubles final when he teamed with Joyce Linnick to play Marge Jackson and Ulman. While the girls played on a par, the fresher Ulman was able to take advantage of a weary Jandreau to win the match, 10-8, 6-3.

In Saturday's play, Grossman gained the finals by beating Smith, 6-4, 6-3; while Jandreau took the measure of Briggs Bosworth, 6-2, 6-4.

Semi-finals in men's doubles saw Rosin-Grossman win an uphill battle with Al Linnick and Ulman to enable them to reach finals play, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. The Jandreau-Smith Saturday match was a sin over Don Williams and Don Pletz, 6-2, 7-5.

LAP ACTION at Riverside Speedway yesterday was fast and furious in what was considered the most thrilling Grand Prix since the race was started four years ago. This action shows the Lotus Climax Monte Carlo being driven by Stirling

BROKEN WATER HOSE AIDS GRAND PRIX WIN

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — Two-time world champion Jack Brabham, 34, thrilled a crowd estimated at well over 50,000 by taking the lead from Bruce Mc-Laren on the last lap of the 62-lap 203.5 mile race at winding Riverside Raceway.

"On that broken water hose I had to fall back and Jack passed me," said the disconsolate McLaren, who finished second behind Brabham to earn second place money. Both first and second place finishers drove Cooper Monaco Climax sports cars, but the new American Chapparel Chevrolet driven by Jim Hall, Midland, Tex., millionaire, gave a good account of itself.

Hall took third in the race, with Roger Penske, Philadelphia, in fourth—in another Cooper Climax.

Brabham, now driving out of Surrey, England, set a new all-time record of 2 hours, 9:33.8 minutes and had an average speed of 94.06 miles an hour. "I felt good all the way," said Brabham.

"I was going 165 miles per hour on the straightaways, and the only slight trouble came once when I missed a gear on the sixth turn and started slipping sideways.

"The trickiest parts of the track here are the S-turns," he said. Stirling Moss, the great British driver, dueling with Brabham for the first 29 laps. But engine trouble forced him temporarily into the pits and it became a two-way fight between McLaren and Brabham.

The 24-year-old McLaren said he was going to New Zealand next and would be married there in December. Brabham chided him by saying he would probably be willing to give him part of his prize—a 1962 Buick.

Mickey Seeks Ladies' Record

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Mickey Wright, winner of the $15,000 Ladies Professional Golfers Association tourney that ended Sunday, figured today she has a "good chance" to become the first woman to win 11 golf tournaments in a single season.

To achieve such a goal the 23-year-old blonde from California currently playing out of Dallas, must win the San Antonio, Tex., LPGA tourney this week. It's the last on the 1962 tour for the women.

Sunday, Miss Wright tied Betsy Rawls, Spartanburg, S. C., for the most tournaments won at 10 by waltzing to a nine-stroke victory with a 72-hole score of 287 in the Las Vegas LPGA event at the Stardust Golf Club. Mickey shot a par-equaling 71 on the final day, while Louise Suggs, Atlanta, Ga., came home with a 73 that was good enough for second place at 296.

First place in this tourney was worth $2,500 to Miss Wright, while Miss Suggs earned $1,900 and Miss Rawls, third, with a 74 Sunday, had a score of 297. Betsy won $1,500.

Spokane Leads New Western Hockey League

By United Press International
The Spokane Comets were the only undefeated team in the Western Hockey League today after three nights of action.

The Comets, with Steve Wituk scoring twice in less than a minute in the first period, held on Sunday night to gain a 4-3 win over Seattle and take possession of first place.

The Comets have now won two and tied one in their three starts. Wituk scored first at 9:29 with Del Topoll and Colin Kilburn assisting.

Seattle's fought back with two goals in the second period but Dick Lamoureux of the Comets put Spokane ahead 3-2. Kilburn scored unassisted in the final period for Spokane, and the Comets coasted to the win.

The Los Angeles Blades made the first victory of their two-game career an impressive one Saturday night, downing the defending champion Portland Buckaroos 5-3 at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Danny Belisle contributed two goals and an assist for the Blades, scoring twice in the third period.

In the only other action Saturday night, the San Francisco Seals took their second straight setback, losing 3-1 to Spokane. The Comets plowed in three goals in the final period, with Dick Lamoureux' tip-in providing the go-ahead score.

Americans Blow Davis Cup Interzone Finals to Italy

ROME (UPI) — Italy defeated the United States in the Davis Cup interzone tennis final today and earned the right to meet Australia in the challenge round when Nicola Pietrangeli, 28, defeated Jon Douglas, 25, Santa Monica, Calif., 9-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Pietrangeli's victory gave Italy a formidable 3-1 lead in the best of five series and rendered meaningless the second of today's singles matches pitting Whitney

SM Ladies Start Season Oct. 18

First day's activity for the Women's Auxiliary of the Shadow Mountain Golf club will be a "Kicker's Tournament" to be held Wednesday. According to Helen Seals, tourney chairman, tee-off time will be from 8 to 9:30 a.m.

Club Pro Bob Pinnell will be on hand to greet the members and act as official starter for the opening day of play. Printed sheets for season's play and instructions have been sent to all members.

Irene Bellamy, season chairman, reports that the first luncheon of the Auxiliary will be held Nov. 8.

Agreement Set by Golf, Tennis Clubs

Robert Morton, president of the Racquet Club in Palm Springs, and Robert Grundt, chairman of the board of the First National Realty and Construction Co. of New York, owners of Canyon Country Club in Palm Springs, jointly announced today that an agreement had been made whereby members of the Racquet Club will in the future be able to use the facilities of the new golf club, which is scheduled to open for play on Jan. 1.

Members of the Canyon Country Club will be able to use the facilities of the Racquet Club.

Ontario Playoff Goes to Monti

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI) — Eric Monti is a home-loving guy and a good teaching professional golfer.

He likes to knock over the touring professionals when they come to these parts and he did it again Sunday — the hard way.

Monti, a staid 42-year-old, sank a birdie putt on the second hole of a sudden death playoff with George Bayer and Bobby Nichols and thereby won the $2,800 top prize in the 72-hole Ontario Open.

Monti, a teacher at the Hillcrest Country Club in Los Angeles, has played in only seven tournaments this year. He and Bayer, golf's longest hitter, and Nichols, a 25-year-old from Midland, Tex., were tied at 277 — three-under-par — after the regulation four rounds.

They all got par fours on the first hole of the playoff and then Monti sank his putt to finish it. The nine-footer was good for $1,150. At least that's what Monti would have lost if he had missed out.

Bayer, who lives in South Pasadena, Calif., but registers from Miami, Fla., and Nichols each won $1,650.

Green Bay, San Diego Pace Pros

Jack Kemp of the unbeaten San Diego Chargers has reconciled himself to playing quarterback with that painful left shoulder, and so the rest of the American Football League might just as well become resigned to the prospect of coping with Jack Kemp.

With his shoulder shot full of novocaine and strapped in a protective sling, Kemp set up all of the Chargers' points with his passing Sunday in a 25-10 victory over the New York Titans.

In breezing to its sixth victory, San Diego made a romp of a game that had been billed as a possible preview of the AFL's championship playoff next December. Both other Sunday games ended in 27-24 scores, the Buffalo Bills defeating the Dallas Texans and the Denver Broncos edging the Oakland Raiders.

Kemp's shoulder muscles were severely torn as a result of a dislocation in an exhibition game last August and Kemp must play in a sling that prevents him from raising his left arm.

Kemp completed 15 of 38 passes for 302 yards. He had able receivers in Dave Kocourek and Don Norton for his long passes, and Paul Lowe and Charlie Flowers for his short tosses. Lowe scored the Chargers' last TD on a 25-yard sprint and Kemp twice sneaked over for scores.

At Denver, halfback Jack Hill kicked a 27-yard field goal with only 8 seconds left to play and beat Oakland. Oakland had a 24-14 lead early in the final period but the Broncos fought back to tie the score on a 26-yard pass from Frank Tripucka to Al Frazier, and a 10-yard field goal by Hill.

Buffalo saved its triumph in the closing minutes when Richie Lucas picked up a fumbled punt by the Texans' Abner Haynes and raced 20 yards for a touchdown in the rain. A crowd of 20,678 attended.

The Texans trailed 20-3 going into the final period but battled back into the game on two touchdowns by Haynes, the first on a 69-yard pass from Cotton Davidson.

However, Haynes fumbled a punt in the rain Lucas recovered the rolling ball and ran for a touchdown. Haynes then ran back the next kickoff 88 yards for a score before time ran out.

If there ever was a more devastating 1-3-3 backfield punch in pro football than Paul Hornung, Jim Taylor and Bart Starr, the Green Bay Packers would like to know about it.

Their names may not yet be as glamorized as Luckman-McAfee-Standee of the 1941 Bears; Trippi-Harder-Angsman of the '48 Cardinals or Graham-Motley-Jones of Cleveland's great champions of 10 years ago.

But if you asked the stunned Cleveland Browns today, they'd tell you that Packers' backfield trio is plain dynamite.

The Packers made a shambles of what had been billed as the National Football League's "game-of-the-week" when they routed the Browns, 49-17, Sunday before a crowd of 75,042 at Cleveland.

Taylor Outgains Browns

Taylor, the NFL's leading rusher, piled up 138 yards in 21 carries to gain more ground yardage than the entire Browns team. He scored four touchdowns, two on runs of 25 and 45 yards, and now has a running average of 6.4 yards for 81 carries.

The victory kept the Packers tied for first place in the Western Division with the San Francisco

Forty-niners, who also ran their record to 4-1 by beating the Minnesota Vikings, 38-24.

Eagles, Giants Win

The champion Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants emerged on top of the Eastern Division with comparatively easy road victories. Philadelphia defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 20-7, and the Giants beat the Dallas Cowboys, 31-10.

In other games, the Pittsburgh Steelers won for the first time this year when they beat the winless Washington Redskins, 20-0; the Chicago Bears defeated the Baltimore Colts, 24-10, and the Detroit Lions edged the Los Angeles Rams, 14-13.

Fine Scores Rolled In Desert Classic

Last night's action in the Desert Classic league saw some fine scores rolled with Morrie Kozlin firing a 297. Ray Newell took up where he left off with 255 for the second game, and Victor Knox came right back in the third game with a 266 and 661 series.

Other action yesterday at PS Lanes was furnished by the visiting Shriners.

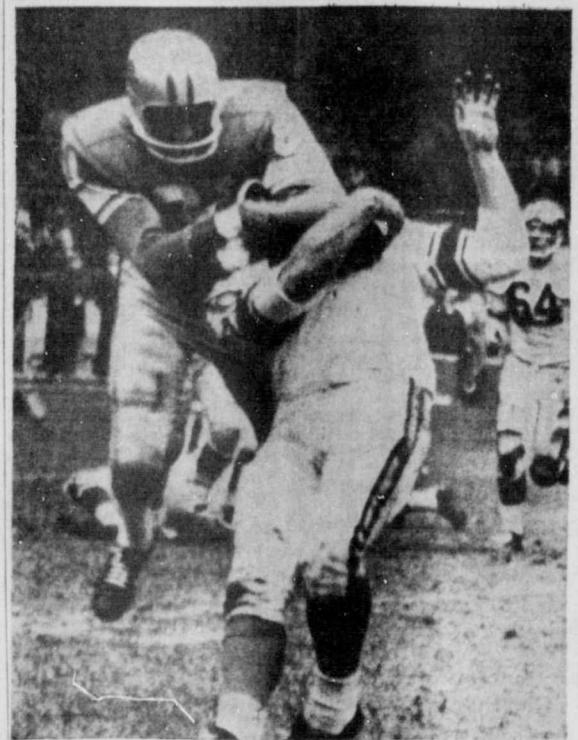

Lanes General Manager Fred Scarms presented a trophy to Cai Ronnenberg of Stanton, Calif., for high scratch series in their tournament. Ronnenberg, a newly installed Noble, won the tournament with a 553.
